References Category:Streets in the City of LondonQ: Programming Method for Multithreaded Classes I am developing a multithreaded game, I am doing the networking and math and audio tasks in a single thread, and this is where I need help. I have an object that has a function called on_update, which is called constantly, but it's for the graphics so I want that to be in the main thread, however I need to draw the character, so that function needs to be in a different thread, but it's called from the main thread every on_update so I was going to move it to the main thread, but the player class is kinda large. Can I program this (and any other class that needs to be updated frequently) to not require the entire class to be loaded into memory every time? or is that the norm in design? A: The simplest way to do this would be to have a method or set of methods on the parent class that handles rendering. The parent class becomes responsible for updating the character positions but the graphics classes are responsible for manipulating the character for rendering. There is no need to implement many classes for this because you can make your parent class generic by removing all the character-specific code and allowing it to be used with whatever type of character you like. For example: void ParentClass::Update(EntityType1 * character1, EntityType2 * character2) { // Do all the work here } void ParentClass::Update(EntityType3 * character3, EntityType4 * character4) { // Same as above } void Parent
